I'm using my Nexus 4 as a Samsung Gear VR (Samsung Galaxy Note 4). When I try to download/upload an image from/to Google Drive with native Google Play store app, it works just fine. But I can't use the Google Drive app because it asks for Google account and a login seems to be necessary to access the Drive. Question is: Can I modify the app so it doesn't require a login? AFAIK, it's an app running on top of mobile gear VR. It should be optional, so Google can logout my native Samsung Gear VR in the middle of the app... A: Can I modify the app so it doesn't require a login? I don't believe so. You can modify system settings to not prompt for account creation or require it for just certain apps, but there is no way to disable it for the Google Drive app. Q: How to add tabs to topbar in emacs?
